Sponsor's Spotlight: LionsBot International

With an army of robots, cleaning a building will be less laborious and more efficient for the cleaning crew. With a heightened emphasis on hygiene and cleanliness amid the pandemic, we are constantly seeking new technologies that could revolutionise the way cleaning is done. LionsBot's Leobot fleet is one of the innovations we will be showcasing at the CESG 2022, along with other Environmental Services solutions to scale cleaning to an industrial level, while making it more efficient, effective and safe.

BETTER CLEANING RESULTS START WITH THE RIGHT CONTRACT

Switch to outcome-based contracting now!

Outcomes-based contracting (OBC) is procurement practice that addresses the challenge of increasing manpower to meet service demands. OBC specifies the desired outcomes and service quality instead of prescribing the required headcount and will enable service providers to adopt innovative technology, enhance processes and offer better solutions to improve productivity and delivery quality cleaning services.

Singapore's National Environment Agency has worked with industry stakeholders to develop a guide on outcome-based contracting, which can be downloaded here.
